JUDGES APPOINTED

Senator Wolcott Named to Succeed Chancellor Curtis

T. C. DuPONT FOR SENATOR

Governor William D. Denney announced on Tuesday through Secretary of State, Alden R. Benson the appointment of four members of the State judiciary to succeed the four judges whose terms will expire on June 15. The new judges named by the governor for twelve year terms are:

Chief Justice—James Pennewill, of Dover, the present Chief Justice.

Chancellor—Josiah O. Wolcott, Democrat, of Dover, present Senior United States Senator succeeding Chancellor Charles M. Curtis of Wilmington.

Associate Judge for Kent County—William Watson Harrington, Democrat, of Dover, succeeding Judge William H. Boyce.

Associate Judge for Sussex County—Charles Sudler Richards, Republican, of Georgetown, succeeding Judge Henry C. Conrad.

Governor Denney will issue a call for a special session of the State Senate to act in executive session on the appointments. While he has not decided upon the date it is expected to be June 15. Opposition has developed to the confirmation of the appointment of Senator Wolcott as chancellor with a coalition of Republican Senators and Democratic Senators allied with the Saulsbury camp leading the fight on the appointment.

Should the friends of the governor muster sufficient strength to put the confirmation of Senator Wolcott through the Senate with that of the other three judges named by the chief executive, it is believed that Governor Denney will name General T. Coleman duPont as United States Senator to succeed Senator Wolcott. As General duPont is in Colorado, on business, it could not be learned what his attitude will be toward accepting the appointment as United States Senator.

It is practically certain that General duPont will be named should he decide to accept the Washington berth. In the event that he decides otherwise there is a strong likelihood that the Senatorial toga will be offered Judge Daniel O. Hastings of Wilmington. Other names mentioned in connection with the appointment are former Governors S. S. Pennewill, former Governor Charles R. Miller and former Secretary of State Everett C. Johnson.

INSURANCE DIRECTORS MEET

At the elegant banquet given by the directors of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Reading, Pa., at the Chalfonte Hotel Atlantic City, on Monday evening, the 23d, the following ladies and gentlemen from Middletown were present: Miss Eugenia Beasten, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Betts, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shepherd, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. P. Combs, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Shallcross, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Eliason, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Comegys, Miss Hester Jones, Miss Josephine Biggs, Mr. Joseph Biggs, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Boyer, of Smyrna, were also present.

A number of unusually interesting addresses, chiefly on fire insurance were made. Mr. R. F. Donaldson, Fire Insurance Commissioner, of Pennsylvania spoke on mutual fire insurance; Mr. Houston Dunn, on Harmony; Mr. Charles F. Nesbitt, ex-Insurance Commissioner of the District of Columbia, made a superb address and among other things alluded to the deteriorated personnel of members of Congress as compared with those of former days when loftier aims than mere partisan success inspired the members of both parties. The speaker pleaded that the best citizens should get together and elect proper persons as Senators and Congressmen. Mrs. Boyer, President of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Delaware highly entertained her hearers with an eloquent talk on various topics.

NEW CENTURY CLUB

A most delightful entertainment was given Monday evening at the New Century Club and the large and enthusiastic audience greatly appreciated the kindness of a number of our Wilmington friends for giving us a musical treat. We are greatful to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huxtable for bringing to us Mr. and Mrs. Ramoth Mitchell, Mrs. Martin B. Lewis and Mr. Butler who delighted us with their vocal selections. Miss Fuller, of Elsmere, was charming in vocal solos and was her own accompanist. Mr. Edwin Mortlock, violinist accompanied Miss Fuller during the following fancy dances: Miss Lorena Mortlock and her famous "Raggedy Ann Dolls;" Miss Weninger in a very graceful solo dance; and Miss Lorena Mortlock and Mrs. Alice Huxtable in the "Serenade of the Violets."

The comedy sketch, "Reforming Bertie," was received with delight. Mr. Huxtable as "Bertie" proved not to be the "dead one" that Mrs. Weaver as "Mrs. Brown," his wife, and Mrs. Clarence Mortlock as "Bessie," the maid, pretended to think him.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Fuller and Mr Butler closed the program with the beautiful old song, "Annie Laurie," without accompaniment.

MRS. ROBERT GABRIEL,
Chairman of Publicity.

THE CHILD'S BUREAU

The Children's Bureau of Delaware wants to thank all the people and societies who have given so generously to help continue its work for another year. There is another kind of help that we have received that is perhaps even more needed than money. Several people have offered to take in their homes, children whose fathers have lost their work because of the hard times. One woman, who has only a small income, but a nice home, boarded a little boy who, because of his nervous condition, needed special diet and sympathetic care. His father lost his position and could no longer pay for him so she offered to keep this child free until he secures another position.

We have another family of little children, a sister and two brothers under 11 years of age, whose mother is dead and whose father has been boarding them for two years in homes found by the Children's Bureau. The father, who is a steady worker and who has spent all his money on his little family, was laid off for the summer with almost no notice.

The Children's Bureau is sure there is some generous family who will share their home with one or more of these little ones for the summer, and will find a friend in the neighborhood for the others so they will not have to be separated. Any one interested can write or call at 207 Church Building, or telephone 4808, Wilmington, Del.

See Wallace Reid in "Sick-A Bed," at the movies Wednesday evening.

Tendered Variety Shower

In honor of the approaching marriage of their sister Miss Edna M. Carpenter, Mrs. John Piser and Miss Grace Carpenter tendered the bride-elect a surprise variety shower, at her home, near town, last Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The dining-room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, in pink peonies and carnations. About 25 friends of Miss Carpenter were present and a very delightful afternoon was spent. Refreshments consisting of fruit salad, ice cream and cake were served.

Feed Potatoes to Stock

Potatoes are plentiful and farmers have been compelled to feed most of the crop to their stock as they cannot be disposed of at 25 cents a basket. Many farmers have their entire crop on hand varying from 200 to 500 baskets. The farmers are planting a large acreage of potatoes as they think they will be scarce in the autumn and the price good.

KING ARTHUR'S COURT

BY EDWIN WHITTIER CASWELL

It was my privilege while visiting my son, Rev. Lincoln H. Caswell, in New York City, recently, to see Mark Twain's celebrated story, The Connecticut Yankee, in a moving picture film, presented by William Fox.

The many humorous sayings of Mark Twain, taken from the book and thrown upon the screen, I am unable to quote, owing to a poor memory.

Mark Twain, in this story jumps back fifteen hundred years to King Arthur's Court. It is the twentieth century mingling with the fifth. Here we behold a brutal king, seated upon a throne of tyranny, ruling with the iron hand of beastly passion and superstition; here, might makes right, liberty may be called majesty in ruins. Suddenly, the Connecticut Yankee, filled with the spirit of freedom and progress, is presented to the court of the king. The big bully on the throne spurns the representative of civilization, education and invention, ordering his soldier slaves to burn the Yankee at the stake. The young man tells the king that he has power over nature; that even the sun in the heavens he can blot out at will. The king laughs in derision at the assumption, but the Yankee, knowing that an eclipse of the sun is predicted for that afternoon, feels perfectly secure. While he is being tied to the stake and the fagots are piled about his body, the sun, on the screen, is slowly passing into eclipse. When it becomes total, the king, in terrible fright, orders the release of the Yankee and, on his return to the court, the Yankee is exalted to the premiership of the government, as Pharoah once exalted Joseph. The Yankee becomes the real ruler, being looked upon as a god. He introduces many reforms in the interests of the common people, saying to the King, "I did not come here to be roasted, but to rule. I have come to overthrow the idea of kingly nobility and tyranny, and give you a government of the people, by the people and for the people. He laughs at the man on the throne being a king by Divine right, saying, "You are only a king because of the clothes and titles you wear; stripping you of these, you would be the same as any other man."

The king finally yields to the advice of the Yankee, consenting to be clothed in disguise as one of the common people. They thus go forth together as peasants, the king continually seeing that the Yankee is correct. Amid their laughable experiences, the Yankee says "I told you so." Finally the king rescues a lame girl from a fire, restoring her to her mother. Then the Yankee slaps him on the back, saying, "That time you were every inch a king."

This picture is one of the finest pieces of satire in all motion picture productions. It is a film in the interests of Democracy and just government, filled with the witty sayings of the most humorous writer America has produced. It produces wholesome laughter that laughs out of court the cruel rule of hereditary oppressors. The old king, at the end of their wanderings, admits, "I am not a king; I am only a man;" the Yankee, replying, says, "You are greater than a king because you are a man."

BASE BALL TEAM ORGANIZED

At a meeting held last week, the base ball team of the Middletown Athletic Association was reorganized and the base ball fans are now assured of a good team representing the town for the season.

The team was disbanded two weeks ago because of the lack of financial support, the solicitors who were appointed to raise money for the team, with the exception of one, having made no effort to raise the necessary cash to run the team. At the meeting James S. Moore and J. Lemont Jones volunteered to make a canvass of the town and surrounding community in an effort to raise the cash needed. The response of the citizens has been most gratifying and the financial backing of the team is assured for the season.

The opening game will take place today, May 28, with the Delaware Bronze A. C., of Wilmington, with another game on Monday, May 30th, (Decoration Day) with the Five Points A. A., of Richardson Park. These teams are rated among the best in the country, and should prove to be good attractions. The games will be called at 2.30 o'clock.

The probable lineup of the team for the opener will be, I. Gibbs or Heller, 1b; B. Gibbs, 2b; Jones, ss; Jolls or Hotis, 3b; Ellison, rf; Alfree or Carey, lf; Davis, cf; Antworker and Mallonee, pitchers. The pitchers were the star twirlers of the Delaware Division team of the P. B. & W. R. R. last season.

The prices of admission for the two first games will be general admission, 25 cents, children under twelve, 10 cents with war tax added. These prices will be tried in an effort to give the fans cheaper baseball than formerly, and it is hoped that the team will be well enough supported, so that the prices will not have to be raised.

NEW AUTO LICENSE

Forms of Application For Certificate of Title

MAGISTRATES HAVE FORMS

Magistrates are preparing new forms of application for a certificate of title to a motor vehicle which new forms are required of all automobile owners in conformity with the law passed by the General Assembly last winter and which goes into effect June 1.

The new forms provide for the name, business and home address of the owner of the machine, a complete description of the vehicle and complete details of ownership.

The expectation is that the new forms will do away with any possibility of a stolen machine being registered, or of any person purchasing a stolen machine without knowing it has been stolen. The source of ownership provides for the date of purchase, the name of the dealer or person from whom the macnine was obtained, the method of payment, the amount of unpaid balance, and the security given for the unpaid balance. The penalty for a false statement is a fine varying from $500 to $5,000 or imprisonment from 60 days to five years or both.

All of the information must be sworn to before a notary public and the information is filed in the office of the Secretary of State at Dover. There also is space on the application for the certificate of the vendor and of the dealer with their names and addresses. The effect will be, it is said, that every sale of an automobile or other motor vehicle shall be known to public officers and the information will be on file where it can be obtained.

To still further protect the owners of automobiles against loss by theft or of being imposed upon in a sale, a certificate of title of every machine must be obtained from the Secretary of State before lincense tags can be obtained for motor vehicles.

After September 1, it shall be unlawful to have in one's possession a motor vehicle for which a certificate of title has not been issued.

HARDING SAYS PUT HOUSE IN ORDER

Urges Cooperation Between Business and Indistry

REVIEWS WAR VETERANS

Weeps For Soldier Dead—Prays For National Righteousness That Will Make Such Things Impossible

New York—A nation so righteous and so just that "we shall never be called to make war so long as God and men rule together" was the prayer of President Harding as he reviewed the survivors of the World War at a review in Brooklyn.

"It must not be again," was his solemn declaration earlier in the day, when he attended a memorial service for 5,000 war dead on the great army piers in Brooklyn.

The same theme—spoken before the living and before the dead—brought tears to his eyes and to the eyes of those who had followed him through a day's program crowded with events.

At a luncheon of the Academy of Political Science and at a dinner celebrating the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the New York Commercial he had expounded the need of putting the Government on a business basis, and of reconstructing the nation's business and industry.

On the part of the Administration, Mr. Harding promised that government interference with business would be reduced to a minimum, while government co-operation with all properly conducted business would be expanded and broadened. He declared his purpose to reverse the tendency in some quarters "to regard business as dishonest until it should prove itself honest and to regard bigness in business as a crime."

Speaking extemporaneously at the conclusion of his prepared address, the President said:

"I would like for you captains of industry to know an aspiration of the present Administration—it is to inaugurate an area of understanding. I want an understanding between the government and the people, an understanding between nations.

"I want our America to have nothing to do with any nation that is not willing to sit at the table and show its cards."

Cleveland, O.—Approximately 600 general chairmen of the four big brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America will attend a joint conference in Chicago on Friday, July 1, to consider and pass upon the wage award made by the United States Rail road Labor Board, which becomes effective on that date.

The board's announcement said the amount of the decrease, effective July 1, will be made public June 1.

The call for the joint conference was signed by Warren S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W S. The Tractor That Stays

IT is pretty generally accepted now that the farm power of the future will be generated by kerosene and other low-grade, low-priced fuels. A tractor that operates successfully on these fuels, insuring dependable power at drawbar and belt, is the tractor that will stay because it will pay.

International 8-16 Tractor has established its reputation for satisfactory performance in the school of experience. It has passed successfully through long and rigid tests under actual field conditions in all sections of the country.

Belt work is becoming more and more important. The use of small threshers, ensilage cutters, etc., combined with a suitable tractor, is making the farmer more and more independent.

All of this emphasizes the value to you of an International 8-16 tractor that is designed to do tip-top belt work as well as taking care of field and road jobs.

SHE DIDN'T DARE TO LEAVE HOUSE

On Verge of Nervous Collapse, Indiana Woman Was Almost Helpless.

HER FRIENDS DISHEARTENED

Troubles Disappear When She Takes Tanlac, and Nerves Now Are as Steady as Can Be—General Health Splendid.

"I was on the verge of a collapse and was actually afraid to leave the house, but I am overjoyed now at the way Tanlac has restored my health so perfectly," declared Mrs. Cora M. Jackson, 504 Mulberry St., Terre Haute, Ind."

"I was almost a nervous wreck, and at times for anyone to even talk to me upset me completely. Even at night I could not get easy and quiet and would lie wide-awake, hardly able to sleep at all, and often just got up out of bed, I was so restless. Nervous headaches often came on me and frequently lasted for days at a time. Then I had rheumatism so bad in my joints I was almost helpless. My legs and elbows hurt fearfully and sometimes I just ached all over. There seemed to be no relief for me, my friends were all worried and I was almost disheartened.

"But, happily for me, one of my friends suggested that I try Tanlac. I never will forget how I began to improve and now I think it is wonderful that I am feeling so well and strong. My nerves are just as steady as can be and I haven't a rheumatic pain about me. I am in just splendid health and wish everybody knew what a grand medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

LONGER SKIRTS IN FROM PARIS

New spring and summer creations keep coming from Paris at a rapid rate. No sooner have we seen the last collection than a fresh shipment of gowns and hats arrives to ravish our gaze.

At the houses of the smart dressmakers in New York, writes a fashion correspondent, imported gowns, designed for late spring and summer and not yet on public view, are all long of skirt and as simple as can be; not a sign of trimming or decoration has been left to them except of the most inconspicuous sort.

Take, for instance, the evening or dinner gown. It is of black crepe satin, and its lining, which shows on the hanging drapery at the side of the skirt, and again under the arms and at the waistline, is of royal blue crepe georgette. As far as trimming is concerned, there is none, only that shimmer of the deep blue that appears now and again to relieve the solid blackness of the frock. The whole art of the thing lies in the lines and in the general suitability of the frock to the personality of the wearer. The sketch came directly from Paris and shows well what they consider over there the right length of skirt. It is, doubtless, but a forerunner of the length of our skirts a season or two to come.

Among the frocks of muslin, cotton crepe or organdie of which such a vast quantity is shown for wear during the summer months, citron-yellow is by far the favorite shade.

Madeleine et Madeleine are trimming their rose and apricot mulls with country flowers made of other colors of organdie posed on the gowns at various fascinating places. An organdie rose will hold a ribbon belt in place and will show there not only the flowers but its leaves made of thin fabric. The French can do anything with a material if it is in the least pliable, and the newer organdies are positively inspirational in their texture and in their colors. They make gardenias and sweet peas of organdie that put the real ones to shame, and then they use them with a skill that only a born artist can display.

For instance, a garland of these organdie posies is placed over one hip, starting at the waistline, and this is the only trimming that the dress is allowed, the rest of it being quite plain and simple, with only the simplest of picoted edges to set it off. Another motif of these little flowers starts on the right shoulder and floats over the front of the gown, to be fastened at the left side of the belt. The dress with this, too, is quite the background for the flower adornment. Doucet is showing frocks of colored and white linen in what is called the handkerchief quality, with trimmings of these little organdie flowers. The novelty of the trimming is a certain relief from the everlasting lingerie trimmings to which frocks of this character have for so long been confined.

Cotton nets and cotton laces are another combination which has received much attention for summer wear and for spring reception and party dresses. The nets are not white and cream only, as in former years, but this season they have been tinted every known tone and shade, and then the laces which are used with them are colored the self-same tone. Chiffon and lace are combined in this way, the lace being dyed to match the tissue.

A yellow net frock was made with a very full skirt, giving body by means of wide crosswise tucks. Between the tucks a two-inch cotton lace edging was placed, and this was dyed the same shade of citron-yellow. The bodice was a simple surplice affair, and the inevitable organdie flower—this time a pale pink camelia—held the pale green ribbon girdle in place.

Another cotton net frock was dyed a gray-blue, and the skirt was one mass of two-inch ruffles made of a cotton lace dyed the same shade, and put on in wide scallops or garlands.

Parisian hats are in full bloom, so to say. Most of the summer ones are big and floppy and flowery, but there are some small turbans recently imported which have a distinction of their own. There are the tiniest of close fitting turbans made solidly of leaves that are colored and lacquered. It is no rarity for the leaves to be a rich, deep brown or a dull and shiny green or rose colored or, for that matter, any color that happens to strike the fancy of the modiste. But the leaves are not all. Over them is draped a veil of chantilly dyed a shade to match exactly the shade of the leaves underneath it.

Leather as Hat Fabric.

The French are using leather a good deal, too, for hats. It is a soft, drapable variety of leather. All the rules of leather have been disregarded and the stuff has been used as though it were the most accepted hat fabric under the sun. One large and broad-trimmed hat was made of brilliant red leather, and it had little steel rivets applied cleverly at the base of that where a bow was tied at the right side by way of a bit of trimming. Another leather hat, also of red, was embroidered in black chenille and then twisted into one of those drapery turban things turning off the face. It was the sort of shape that has been popular for some seasons past and to which the French milliner is capable of always giving a fresh twist, if desired.

Lace, too, is still a favorite with them over there. They are making whole picture hats of it and using it for trimmings on others. They seem loath to relinquish the grace and the drooping quality of this material, which, above all others, has that feminine look which best adapts itself to the making of hats. They have used lace for veils and scarfs and bows and for transparent brims, and when they use it they take great pains to allow the pattern to show at its best.

Flowers in Some Favor

There are, as always in springtime, many trimmings of ribbon. There is an amusing little novelty in the way of ribbon of organdie edged by a picot in metal thread. In the same way stiff taffeta ribbons are supplied with this metal edge, and these Maria Guy uses in formal rosettes posed on the brims of some of her hats.

Flowers seem to be finding again some of their lost favor. They lean toward being made extraordinary large, not the models set down by nature; they diverge in many ways and the more conventional the type the better they seem to be liked.

At the shop of Lucie Hamar one sees wreaths and garlands of these newer flowers mingled with bunches of luscious looking fruit and the whole of the arrangement is then treated to a bath of cire finish which makes it shine most attractively. They look altogether like flowers of porcelain or wax. This same modiste makes flowers of taffeta that have a cire finish. They are assorted as to colors, blending with the shade of the hat upon which they are placed. For instance, there is a hat of fine red straw which is topped by a crown of foliage tinted and lacquered in the very same shade as the straw.

As for the plumed hats, they are most often of soft straws with glycerined feathers that wind many times about the base of the crown and drip off the sides, the front or the back, or all three, just according to the whim of the modiste. Sometimes they, too, are actually drawn through the straw brim, then being allowed to wave over the hair.

Georgette uses an elongated dagger for the trimming at the side of some of her hats. She has had great success, too, with the tricorne, which is trimmed with two aigrets fastened to the side, which is turned up.

Jeanne Duc prefers the taffeta flowers for trimming. At this house there is a large picture hat made of black satin and trimmed with a decidedly artistic arrangement of black lace intertwined with metal ribbon in shades of blue with silver.

May Revive the High Waistline

Tendency Among French to Obliterate Necessity for the Separate Blouse in Coat Suit.

There is a tendency among the French designers to obliterate the necessity for a separate blouse in a coat suit by carrying the skirt to the bust line and making yoke and sleeves of a thin fabric. This is an old fashion. It dominated the world about twenty years ago. It is time for it to be revived. The majority of American women object to the one-piece frock in a thick warm fabric because of the heat of our shops and houses and all covered places; they prefer a thin fabric over the body above the waist. The separate blouse has met this need. The substitution for it is the new French gown copied from the fashions of the end of the Nineteenth century.

There is food for thought and reason for prophecy in this reversion. It may be a subtle evidence of a change in the hip waistline. There is a feeling in the air that the high waistline and the princess figure may be substituted for the loose and careless method of dressing which we casually call the moyenage.

The woman who wishes to be a forerunner of a new fashion can get up a gown in this new manner. She may find it sufficiently in the picture to give her pleasure. She can copy a few of the extreme new evening gowns which have the material running up to the bust, mounted over silk tulle and showing this tulle in irregular slashes.

Jeweled Gloves.

Long white gloves, richly embroidered with rhinestones and rubies, are among the latest fashion fads. Gloves for the bride are of ivory kid worked with seed pearls. There are black kid gloves, too, elbow length and embroidered with emeralds or sapphires.

LESSON FOR MAY 29

CHRIST PICTURES A REAL NEIGHBOR.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:25-37; Acts 2: 44-47.

GOLDEN TEXT—Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: love therefore is the fulfillment of the law.—Rom. 13:10.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Prov. 25:18; Matt. 25:31-40; Rom. 13:8-10; 15:1, 2; Eph. 4:25-32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Man Who Helped.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Good Samaritan.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being a Good Neighbor.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Who Is My Neighbor?

I. Christ Questioned (Luke 10:25-29).

1. By whom (v. 25). A certain lawyer. He was not a lawyer in the modern sense of that term; most nearly corresponds to our theological professors.

2. The purpose of (v. 25). It was to tempt Jesus as to whether He was really learned in the law; and also to entrap Him to show Him to be heterodox.

3. The question (v. 25). "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" Though a lawyer, his theology was defective. He thought eternal life was to be obtained by doing. The very words he used involve a contradiction. An inheritance is not obtained by doing, but by being.

4. Jesus' reply (vv. 26-29). He cited him to the law. This is the proper place to send one who is expecting to get eternal life by doing. The lawyer answered well, for supreme love to God and love to one's neighbor as he loves himself is the sum total of human obligation. "This do and thou shalt live." But this is the very thing he could not do. Man needs God's enabling grace to love at all; so he stood condemned by his own conscience enlightened by the law. He set out to trap Jesus, and now he is caught in a trap, and in order to justify himself he said to Jesus, "Who is my neighbor?" The question is answered in the story of the Good Samaritan.

II. Playing the Neighbor (vv. 30-37).

In this story of the Good Samaritan the question is shifted so as to make clear that the supreme question is not, "Who is my neighbor?" but "Whose neighbor am I?"

To be a neighbor is—

1. To see those about us who need help (v. 33). We should be on the lookout for those in need of help; and love is keen to discern need.

2. Have compassion on the needy (v. 33). Since Christ is the compassionate One, all who have His nature will be likewise moved when they see need.

3. Go to those in need (v. 34). The personal touch many times is more important than material aid. It is easier to give money than personal aid. The true neighbor gives both.

4. Bind up wounds (v. 34).

5. Set the helpless ones on our beasts while we walk (v. 34). Willingness to deny ourselves in order to help others is a proof of the genuineness of love.

6. Bring to the inn and take care of the unfortunate (v. 34). The true neighbor is not spasmodic in his giving help.

7. Give money (v. 35). It costs much to be a neighbor. Love is the most expensive thing in the world. It cost God His only Son; it cost Jesus Christ His life. May we go and do likewise!

III. The Behavior of the Early Church (Acts 2:44-47).

1. They were together (v. 44). They were together because they were baptized into the one body of which Christ was head by the Holy Spirit (I Cor. 12:13). The oneness of the body was symbolized by the breaking of bread. Such unity is only possible to believers in Christ, that is, those regenerated by the Holy Ghost. To get unity, therefore, in the neighborhood we must get people to be saved.

2. Had a community of goods (vv. 44, 45). They sold their possessions and goods and parted them to all men as every man had need. This proved that they were under the power of the Holy Spirit, that is, that the supernatural was being manifest; for it is not natural to abandon one's title to possession. A neighborhood cannot be made Christian by getting people to practice these things: rather when it is made Christian these things will follow as evidence that divine transformation has taken place. The Holy Spirit can thus unite around Jesus Christ members of all nations and constitute a true brotherhood.

3. They were filled with gladness and singleness of heart (v. 46). Those who were really born again have no ulterior motive. What they seem to be, they really are. Unsaved men and women are controlled by selfish motives; they seek their own, not another's good. This they do while feigning love for others.

4. Praising God and having favor with all the people (v. 47). Such unselfishness gained the attention of the people and induced them to yield themselves to God, who added daily such as were being saved.

Those In the Grave Shall Hear.

As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself; and hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man. Marvel not at this; for the hour is coming, in which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life.—John V, 26 to 29.

Blessedness.

Christ came to bless; again and again He cries, "Blessed are ye," and the blessedness goes ever progressively, increasing along the way which the Saviour points out; and if we continue walking in that way, we become more and more capable of receiving that blessedness.—Stier.

Every member of the Wilson cabinet, with the exception of Secretary of War Baker, took the chair he had used, as a souvenir, for which privilege they were obliged to purchase these new ones for their successors.

BRIEF INFORMATION

The Individual's Rights.

The sole end for which mankind is warranted individually or collectively, in interfering with the liberty of action of any of their number, is self-protection. That is the only purpose for which power can be rightly exercised over any member of a civilized community against his will, to prevent harm to others. His own good, either physical or moral, is not a sufficient warrant. He cannot rightly be compelled to do or forbear because it will be better for him to do so, because it will make him happier, because, in the opinion of others, to do so would be wise or even right. These are good reasons for remonstrating with him, but not for compelling him or visiting evil in case he does otherwise. To justify that the conduct from which it is desired to deter him must be calculated to do harm to someone else. —John Stuart Mill.

Safety First.

Mose—Would yo' lend me two bits, Pete?

Pete—Honestly "no," Mose!

Mose—Den would yo' lend me yo'r rabbit's foot?

Pete—Why dat's all dat saves me from lendin' yo' two bits!

Couldn't Break the Rule.

"That cashier is a cool chap."

"How so?"

"A thug with a revolver ordered him to hand out the bank's cash yesterday, but he said he couldn't do it unless the thug was identified. This took the fellow so aback he hesitated a moment and was nabbed."

Knew Only One.

Wicks—Your wife seems like a different woman when she is speaking.

THE WAY TO FRIENDSHIP

IT is arranged that Gen. Pershing shall be in Paris to participate in the celebration of Bastille Day, July 14th. Later it is understood he will return to the United States on the same ship with Marshal Foch and the body of an unidentified American soldier. In accordance with an act of Congress passed at the last session, the body will be buried in the National Cemetery at Arlington with elaborate ceremonies, prominent in which will be the leader of the American armies and the commander in chief of all the allied forces. It is international exchanges of that sort that cement the friendly ties between nations and reduce the probability of future wars. France and the United States are not at peace merely because certain arbitrary rules and regulations are written into a league of nations convenant, but because there are mutual ties of sympathy and understanding between the two countries.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

PROTEST against a "consumption tax" does not fool anyone into the notion that some taxes are not consumption taxes. The excess profits tax, the corporation tax, the income tax, the land tax, the automobile tax, are all consumption taxes passed on from one to another. It is undoubtedly true that some of the taxes are not equally distributed but in general they finally fall as a practically equal burden upon all. The inheritance tax is probably the least easily passed on to someone else, but all taxes paid by men in active business are added to the cost of production and reflected in prices. There is little in names.

THE FILIPINO CANOE

A RECENT uprising in Mindanao, Philippine Islands, which resulted in the killing by Government forces of 90 Moros will hardly convince General Wood, who is now studying the qualifications of the Filipinos for self-government, that they are ready to embark in their own ship of state. Apparently the canoe which the Filipino is best fitted to paddle at this time is a war canoe.

Lumber Is Down
YES, Lumber is down—down to where a farmer can afford to build anything that can be made of lumber, even in the face of a low market on farm products.
Lumber was the last great commodity to go up, and the first to come down. Today lumber prices are down to where it is hard to see how they can go any lower, when costs are considered.
You farmers have reason to be disappointed in the returns from last year's crops, but with lumber selling on the present basis we do not believe you can afford not to do whatever building or repairing may be necessary before Spring work commences.
Whether it's a barn or a shed, or just some boards for fixing up around the place, the facts about lumber will appeal to any man or woman who believes in thrift and knows values.
Come in and talk over your particular problems. We want to be helpful, and we welcome an opportunity to show you.

Lumbago
This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."

Here We Are For Good-Old-Summer-Time

Silence is golden at the movies but a good clothier's values cannot wear rubber heels

This season with the supply increased it's time to get out the bunting again and strike up the band.

Everybody wants the Maxime silencer taken off the values and in every line from groceries to go-carts the stores that are letting up on the prices and letting out on the values are getting the business.

That's the platform on which every article in this Summer stock is prepared for sale.

Munsing Union Suits

Where Are You Bound?

—in Munsing Union suits there is no binding.

Every wearer of underwear knows that when a union suit takes the notion into its seams to pinch—that it can be as binding as a first mortgage.

But every man who wears a "Munsing" knows that it couldn't bind if commandeered by the government.

The difference is in the fit.

Our best selling number this month is a fine very light weight gauze garment that speaks in a deep dramatic value voice at $2 and $2.50.

Others at 75c, $1.00 and $1.50.

Whooping Cough

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.
